

STATE LEGISLATURE CONVENES AT NOON

ALLIES AGREE ON DEBT SHARES Eliminate Limit Set For American Claims

Rumania and Italy Only Nations
to Sign With Reservations

MODERATION IS EFFECTIVE

Ambassador Kellogg Replies to Clementel's Address for United States

Paris—All the powers represented
in the interallied financial conference
Wednesday signed the "agreement
regarding the distribution of the Dawes annuities." Rumania and Italy signed with reservations.

Limitation of the American damage claims to $350,000,000 was struck
out. This was the only change
made in the text of the agreement
before its signature.

The Rumanians announced that they were making reservations with a view to demanding an increased percentage of reparations while the Italians objected to the ruling of the conference on Italy's repayment
of the excess she has received in reparations or the percentage to which she is entitled.

These reservations, however, did not prevent
unanimous signature of the agreement
and the conclusion of the conference. The agreement will be considered by the allies later.

Signature of the financial convention brings to a fitting close what has been by common consent the most successful interallied meeting since
the armistice.

DETERMINATION WINS

This result it attributed to the example set at the beginning of the conference by the American delegation and the British chancellor of the exchequer. Winston Churchill—an example of moderation, good will, and
determination to effect a settlement.

Everybody seems satisfied that order has been evolved from chaos at the expense of the least possible sacrifice to each of the participating nations.

Even the smaller powers, notably Rumania, whose situation is unde-
servably hard, go away with the conviction that their interests will be taken care of and that means will be found to satisfy their requirements in
the not too distant future.

The convention is a carefully drawn document in French and English and contains 27 clauses divided into five chapters. The first chapter consists of clauses dealing with appointment of the annual Dawes payments, the second with the Ruhr and other back
accounts and the third with special questions growing out of application
of the previous agreement.

Hughes Resignation Fails To Change U. S. Policies In Europe

MELLON WITNESS
IN SENATE PROBE

Secretary Is Called In Connection With Rail Rate
Hearings

By Associated Press

Washington, D. C.—Secretary Mellon was included among witnesses
called Wednesday for the opening of hearings before the senate interstate commerce committee on pending
bills proposing a reduction in the interest rate now charged by the government on moneys advanced to railroads.

Railroad executives have contended
the present rate of 6 per cent imposes
an arbitrary burden on the carriers
which in some cases, notably that of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul
line, is full several times. President Coolidge favors a reduction in the rate and the treasury department has indicated its approval of a reduction
to a point at which the government would receive a fraction more than
the rate borne by its own securities.

Other witnesses listed for Wednesday
were H. E. Byam, of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, and A. F.
Thom, general counsel of the Association of Railway Executives.

European Press Takes It for Granted Coolidge Will Change
Attitude Toward Russia

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright 1925 by the Post Pub. Co.

Washington, D. C.—No important change in the foreign policy of the United States will result from the resignation of Secretary Hughes.

President Coolidge has been as much responsible for the various steps taken by Mr. Hughes in the department of state as has been the secretary himself, and any other impression assumes that the president
has merely been nodding a reluctant assent.

The European press is wrong in taking it for granted that the president is about to embark on a policy
of his own or that he will, with another secretary of state, approve a reversal of any of the present policies, particularly with Russia. Recognition of Russia may come—it might have happened under Mr. Hughes or the soviet government had agreed
to fulfill the conditions set by him—
but circumstances abroad and not here will bring about the change. The new secretary of state, Mr. Kellogg,
feels exactly as President Coolidge
does about property rights and the sanctity of contracts and Communism. If the Democratic party were in power, there might be some ground
for the belief that a change would ensue but the policy adopted toward Russia by Mr. Hughes was exactly that which the main supporters of the Republican party in America heartily endorse. Russia may have her own form of government but she must agree not to attempt to overthrow America's.

FRIENDSHIP IS STRONG

There are obvious reasons why President Coolidge would like to recognize Russia. The friendship of the American people for the Russian people is traditionally strong. The Russian masses may be considered to be the tools of a group of political manipulators but the United States government took its time about recognizing Mexico until specific assurance was given as to the willingness of the government there to fulfill international obligations and there is no special hurry manifest in executive quarters about recognizing a government that is so much more remote from the United States.

The cabinet has not been divided on the Russian policy. Some of the strongest arguments against Russian recognition under circumstances that have existed have been made by Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce.
It is true that Senator Borah, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, is friendly to the soviet government and that he and others
on Capitol Hill are seizing upon the change in the department of state to revive their arguments in favor of recognition of the Russian government.

Hughes And His Successor

Frank B. Kellogg, at present ambassador to England, will succeed Charles Evans Hughes as secretary of state. Mr. Hughes, who is shown with Mr. Kellogg (left), in the above photo, retires to private life after years spent in the service of the government.

Blaine Asks Release Of Badger In Mexico

KILLS LARGE TIMBER
WOLF WITH HAMMER
IN NORTHERN FOREST

By Associated Press

Antigo—A year ago Al Weise
told of his pioneer experience of nearly killing a wolf, between Antigo and Merrill, by running over it with a car and then using a club to finish the job.

On Saturday John Shacker and
the unusual experience at his camp near Ormsby of killing a wolf with a hammer. A couple of dogs had rounded up a good sized timber wolf and the animal, in order to escape from his pursuers,
crawled under a shed.

The howling of the dogs brought John to the place. He saw the wolf's tail sticking out from under the shed. He gave the tail a jerk,
which suddenly brought the wolf's
head out. John was ready with a hammer, and as the head came
out he hit it with a hammer, knocking the animal senseless. A few more cracks ended its life.

PLAN AIRPORT ON ROOFS
OF NEW YORK BUILDINGS

By Associated Press

New York — The possibility of creating an air port for commercial purposes in New York by roofing
over the yards of the Pennsylvania railroad at thirty-third-st and by putting flat roofs on large piers on the waterfront will be considered by the
select committee of congressmen
which will commence hearings Thursday on the operations of the air service in the United States. The committee which arrived here Wednesday, is headed by Congressman Florian Lampert of Wisconsin. It is probable that the committee will recommend the establishment of a permanent commission of engineers empowered to handle flying affairs.

JOHNSON RESIGNS POST
IN INSURANCE BUREAU

By Associated Press

Madison — State Senator O. H.
Johnson resigned Wednesday as deputy insurance commissioner as he intends to devote the greater share of his time to his legislative duties
which begin with the convening of the state legislature here Wednesday.

Madison — Further word was awaited by state officials here
here Wednesday in connection with the telegram received last Tuesday
by Dr. A. S. Loevenhart of the University of Wisconsin from Dr. W. F.
Lorenz, director of the Wisconsin Psychiatric Institute and chairman of the state board of control, in which
Dr. Lorenz said he was held in jail at Progreso, Mexico, charged with fil-
luster "or something equally absurd."

Governor Blaine has asked the state department to demand immediate release of Doctor Lorenz and has telegraphed such demands to President Calles of Mexico and the Mayor
of Progreso. The telegram from Dr.
Lorenz stated that a sailing vessel
was wrecked Jan. 10, but that all hands were saved. Progreso is on the southeast coast of Mexico. Dr.
Lorenz has been traveling for the benefit of his health.

Washington, D. C. — The captain,
members of the crew of the American
sailing vessel Ruth of Pensacola, Fla.,
and a man "claiming to be Dr. W. F.
Lorenz, chairman of the Wisconsin State Board of Control," have been placed in jail at Progreso, Mexico,
by order of the captain of the port
of that place.

The state department announced
the arrests Wednesday after receipt of a report from the consul at Pro-greso. Representations were made at once to the Mexican government
through the American embassy in Mexico City and the consul was instructed to make a thorough investigation and report details of the affair.

Aside from the report that the Ruth had been shipwrecked, details
were lacking. No mention was contained in the consul's report that the ship might have been charged with filibustering.

The consul's dispatch was interpreted by officials here as indicating
that some doubt existed as to the identity of "Lorenz."

A "well bred man claiming to be Dr.
Lorenz" was the wording of the dispatch.

Former Governor Implicated in Charges Leaves for Farm

By Associated Press

Topeka, Kas.—Attorney General C.
E. Griffith and his assistants Wednesday began an investigation of pardons
and paroles granted during the final days of the administration of former Governor Jonathan M. Davis, and forward with plans for filing an ouster suit against Carl J. Peterson,
state bank commissioner. Ouster proceedings against Peterson will be filed in the state supreme court. A.
L. Oswald, Hutchinson attorney,
charges that Peterson solicited money
for a pardon for Walter Grundy, convicted Hutchinson bank wrecker.

Mr. Peterson declared it would be "shown in due season" that whatever
was demanded by Grundy was in restitution of money he offered the bank with which he was connected.

Governor Ben S. Faulen Tuesday
refused to accept the offer of Fred W.
Pollman, convicted forger of Lacygne,
Kas., who attempted to place in Faulen's hands the pardon he obtained upon the payment of $12,500
to Russell C. Davis, son of former Governor Davis.

The former governor, who, with his son, is charged with accepting a bribe in connection with the Pollman
pardon transaction, left Topeka Tuesday for his farm in Bourbon-co.

KIANGSU TUCHUN GAINS
CONTROL OF RAIL LINE

By Associated Press

Shanghai—General Chi Hsueh-tu,
a tuchun of Kiangsu province who commanded the successful offensive against Shanghai, announces that he controls the Shanghai-Nanking
railway as far as Chinkiang.

It is reported that General Ly-
Yang-Hsueh, former tuchun of Chikiang, is dispatching troops from Nanking toward Chinkiang, including
two of the Manchurian divisions of Chang Tso-Lin. Chang, who is the Manchurian war lord, has returned to Mukden from Tientsin.

Numbers of the defeated troops of Chang Yung Min engaged in looting
the native city and surrounding villages after Chi's victory, but later Chang's army was virtually interned
in the foreign settlement, and Shanghai and its environs are quiet again.

Sachtjen Fights For Speakership

PUBLIC INVITED TO SEE THIRD ANNUAL
SKATING TOURNAMENT

At 2 o'clock on Sunday afternoon
a pistol shot will announce the opening of the third annual Post-Crescent skating tournament in Jones park, which this year will decide the championship of the Fox River valley. Eleven events will make up the tournament with entries composed of senior men, junior boys, intermediate boys, senior
girls and junior girls.

The public is cordially invited to watch the races. Last year there were thousands of spectators on the banks of the natural amphitheatre and on the Lawrence-st
bridge overlooking Jones park,
with room for many more. This year it is expected the crowd will be even larger, so all who plan to attend are urged to get there early.

The tournament is given under the auspices of the Post-Crescent
and there are no charges either for entry or to look on.

CHOICE OF PROGRESSIVES!

Senate Socialists Play Independent Role Without Indication of Choice

By Associated Press

Madison—The fifty seventh Wisconsin legislature convening at noon
may witness a closer contest on the selection of a speaker of the assembly
than was forecast several days ago
when Blaine administration forces claimed a majority of pledges for Ferman W. Sachtjen of Dane-co. In a Republican caucus Tuesday night
at which stalwart Republicans were not in evidence, Sachtjen was able to muster only 30 votes, although he claimed strength among absentees.

Called as a Republican caucus by Robert M. LaFollette Jr., chairman of the party's state central committee, the meeting resolved itself into a conference of the progressive wing of the party when more than 30 members representing a part of the stalwart faction went on record Tuesday announcing the call and deciding the remain away.

Sachtjen was almost the unanimous choice of the progressive caucus,
scattering votes being cast for Clinton Price of Mauston, James Goodman of Argyle and William Olson of Monroe. Five members attending the caucus cast no vote.

Coming to hold a balance of power in the situation, Socialist members
of the assembly openly declared
Tuesday night that their vote may decide the election of a speaker on the floor of the house Wednesday.
Where these votes will go was not indicated by spokesmen of that faction
in view of the fact that a Socialist member, Frank J. Weber of Milwaukee, is the Socialist pre-caucus choice
for speaker. Their caucus was scheduled for Wednesday morning and in
it may be decided where the votes ultimately will go in event that the Socialists decide to withdraw their candidate. At all events it is conceded
that the endorsement of a nonparty
candidate, if any is made, will be unanimous on the part of the Socialist bloc.

OPPOSE SACHTJEN.

Later it became apparent that the Socialist group in the house would not be for Sachtjen in the final speakership vote.

The Socialist attitude on Sachtjen
is believed to be the aftermath of the recent election when the group claims
the election machinery of the Blaine administration was directed toward
the intended defeat particularly of Assemblyman Thomas Duncan of Milwaukee, the present spokesman of the Socialist bloc in the house.

This attitude is somewhat bitter-
against Blaine progressives and has been noticeably friendly toward anti-Blaine-Sachtjen progressives and conservatives, a new note in Wisconsin
politics.

In the senate, Socialists are playing
an independent role with virtually no
indication that a switch may be made to conservatives or anti-Blaine progressives in the organization of this branch of the legislature.

Anti-Blaine progressives and conservatives were prepared Wednesday
to make a vigorous fight against the action of the progressive senate committee when a committee on committees was endorsed.

This committee includes Senator J.
E. Cushman, Denmark, chairman;
Senators A. E. Garry, Edgerton, and
O. H. Johnson, Graton, and would, if elected by the senate, control the naming of important committees.

CHICAGO GANGSTER GETS TEN MONTHS FOR RUNNING BEER

Tommy O'Donnell and Four Companions Plead Guilty
to Charges

By Associated Press

Madison — Tommy O'Donnell, Chicago gang leader, and four companions in the Fort Atkinson beer running case, pleaded guilty Tuesday afternoon before Judge C. Z. Luse in federal court here to charges of conspiracy to violate the federal prohibition laws.

O'Donnell was sentenced to 10
months in the Milwaukee-co house of correction. Those who pleaded guilty
with him and the punishment meted
out to each are: Conrad Behr, three months in workhouse; John Wilson,
fined $350, Frank Wells, fined $200,
and Joseph Timmons, fined $200.

OTHER CASES DROPPED

The quartet, with O'Donnell,
pleaded not guilty to possession and transportation of liquor. The cases against other defendants in the action were dismissed, with the exception of George Hawlett, Charles Smith John Looney and Alex Knaus, who failed to make their appearance in court.

O'Donnell and 19 other men were captured in a sensational raid on the brewery last September. At the time of the raid, a caravan of 14 trucks
loaded with beer was about to leave
the brewery. The trucks and 25,000
gallons of beer were seized by the dry
agents.

FIND RUNNERS ARMED

The raiders had been watching the brewery for some time. It was stated at the time of the arrest. When the raid was made, a number of sawed-
off shotguns and other firearms were found in the trucks and on the persons of the arrested men. The men offered no resistance when placed under arrest.

Indictments naming O'Donnell and
other members of the gang were returned here last December.

Bannister will present at Fischer's Appleton theater Monday and Tuesday, Jan. 19 and 20, for the benefit of the Boy Scouts of America. The revue is called "The Passing Show" because its acts are taken from past New York successes.

One of the prettiest numbers is the White Ballet, in which Kaukauna and Appleton young ladies will participate. The first, "O' Sussana," will be danced by a group of Kaukauna girls, Ione Hilgenberg, Lucille Lang, Germaine VanLieshout, Helen Guilfovie, Zella Peranteau, Ili Nagel and Mildred Keady. This song group will dance "Jump, Jim Crow" and prance; difficult fencing exhibition, using foils.

Miss Ruth McKennan and J. M. VanRooy have a skit entitled "Tea for Two." Bernard Bonini is to be Pierrot in a number, and Mr. Bonini and Mrs. Dorothy Adsit will dance and sing two numbers, "L'Homme" and "An Apache Dance."

M. M. Belding, millionaire, was considerably miffed when Coast Guard officers off Miami, Fla., mistook his pleasure yacht for a rum-runner, and in order to stop it, took a few shots at it and him. He is now filing suit against the government for publishing his income tax returns.

CELEBRATE YEAR OF CHURCH SUCCESS

Congregational Families Will Gather Thursday Night for Annual Meeting

Appleton First Congregational church closed its biggest and best year on Dec. 31, and will celebrate when the annual meeting is held Thursday. Every family in the parish has been urged to attend the program, which begins with a half hour motion picture entertainment and song service at 8 o'clock, followed by supper at 8:30, talks, reports and special music, and a comedy movie at 9:15.

Reports which will be submitted to the congregation show the largest membership the church has ever had and more activity than ever among its various organizations. Huge evening audiences also are being accommodated each Sunday now for the motion picture services.

The supper will be served by the church social committee and each family will be permitted to pay any amount it wishes. Reservations have been made by a large number of persons.

Mrs. E. E. Emme and children returned Monday after an extended visit at Cincinnati where they visited Mrs. Emme's parents. They also stopped a few days at the home of Professor Emme's parents in Kankakee, Mich.

MOTHERS OF 50 BABIES ADVISED AT FIRST CLINIC

So Many Mothers Attended Clinic That All Could Not Be Served

Fifty babies were examined by Dr. Sylvia Stuessey of the state health department at the free baby clinic at Appleton Women's club Tuesday. So many mothers brought their children to be examined that Dr. Stuessey and her assisting nurses were unable to care for all of them. They were given appointed times to bring their children to the next free clinic, which will be held Feb. 10 and 11 at the clubhouse, with Dr. Stuessey in charge.

The purpose of the clinic, Miss Lucy Helen Pearson, general director of the club, said is to give advice to mothers and to call attention to acute troubles that need physician's attention. Dr. Stuessey does not prescribe.

Miss Pearson advised mothers to make requests for examinations three or four days before the next baby clinic to insure attention. She commended the nurses of the city who assisted Dr. Stuessey, and said the women felt the most expert professional service in the city was given, combined with the service the state offers through Dr. Stuessey.

The Junior Beaver committee, of which Mrs. A. F. Arndt is chairman, cooperated in taking children to the clinic. This work will be continued next month.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Jacquot are planning to leave Saturday for Los Angeles, Calif., where they will spend about three months.

BOARD OF EDUCATION IN MONTHLY MEETING

A meeting of the Appleton board of education was held at 1:20 Wednesday afternoon in the high school. This is the regular monthly meeting and not an adjourned or postponed one. At the regular monthly meeting which elected B. J. Rohon city superintendent of schools, the legality of the election was contested by some of the members and the matter was referred to A. C. Bosser, city attorney, for a legal opinion. Mr. Bosser says he was not ready to make a report at this time.

The dispute involves several knotty points, such as whether the board can legally elect a superintendent by a special meeting in the middle of the school year without previous action on the resignation of the incumbent. The special city charter calls for the election in the June meeting. The application of the special charter and the general charter on school affairs in Appleton also will be a matter on which information is sought.

COUNCIL READY TO ACT ON BIDS FOR SNOWPLOWS

An adjourned meeting of the common council will take place at 7:30 Thursday evening in the city hall. This meeting was called for the purpose of acting on the bids for furnishing the city additional snow removal equipment. The aldermen deferred action on this matter until after they had attended the national road show in Chicago last week.

Trades Council Meets
A regular meeting of the Appleton Trades and Labor council will be held Wednesday evening in the council's headquarters in the Woolworth-bldg. This will be the first meeting since the election of officers in December.

EXPERTS PREDICT BETTER BUSINESS IN BADGER STATE

Improvement in Demand for All Kinds of Labor Is Expected
in 1925

Industrial and agricultural prospects for Wisconsin in 1925 are bright, according to a report made by the United States department of labor upon the basis of information received from federal-state employment directors.

Many look for advances in the total volume of manufactures, private and public programs, etc. If improvement in metal working, woodworking and many other lines materialize in accordance with forecasts, skilled labor other than building tradesmen will be in greater demand than during 1924. The public program for private and public projects for the state as a whole is believed to be quite a little greater for 1925 than for the past year, and it may be expected that the employment of building trades men of all classes will at least equal that of last year. The building construction season is being lengthened from year to year by changes in construction methods and arrangements to permit the building operations to start earlier in the spring and to be carried out later in the fall despite cold weather.

Wisconsin is already an outstanding state in the production of canning peas and sugar beets.

In both of these items the farming acreages are expected to increase next year. The progress in intensive dairying methods continues, and generally the conditions of farmers may be expected to be as good next year, especially if farm prices are good. In certain sections of the state the tobacco and potato acreages may be reduced, in view of quite unprofitable production. The corn acreage probably will be increased to take up acreage released from tobacco and potato culture.

CABBAGE GROWERS FORM CORPORATION

Bylaws Permit Association to Go Into Business of Marketing

Directors of Outagamie County Cabbage Growers association incorporated the association and forwarded the incorporation papers to the secretary of state's office. The corporation is put on a non-stock basis.

The meeting of the directors was held at the Hotel Northern Monday. Officers and directors are: Philip Bixby, Grand Chute, president; Percy Blount, Grand Chute, vice president; R. A. Amundson, Appleton, secretary; W. C. Williams, Appleton, treasurer; Matt Schaefer, Buchanan, and William Rose, Menasha.

Purpose of the organization was defined as handling of seed for its members, but a clause was added which will permit the association, whenever it chooses, to branch out into the business of marketing cabbage. A committee appointed to investigate the advisability of cooperative marketing of cabbage also met on Tuesday but came to no conclusion as to the formulation of plans. Further meetings will be held for this purpose.

No seed was raised for the association for next spring's planting, as the association had previously wished to test out the seed for one year only. The cabbage growers have ordered 600 pounds of seed for distribution in the spring of 1925, and on Monday the directors decided to place an order for 1,000 pounds of seed for 1927. Cabbage growers will have to purchase their seed elsewhere this coming spring. The association will, however, place orders for members with large concerns handling seeds. Seed houses are warning that this will be a hard winter for cabbage seed now being grown in the state of Washington and that there will be a shortage of it next spring.

Man Postpones His Funeral

"I am 66 years old and for past two years have been suffering so badly from stomach and liver troubles, bloating and colic attacks that I did not expect to live more than a few months and was arranging my affairs and even my funeral. Three doses of May's Wonderful Remedy have entirely cured me." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At all drug stores. adv.

Henry Ford Pays His Deckhands Aboard Freight Boats $5 Daily

THE FREIGHTER ONEIDA, ONE OF THE FIRST TWO SHIPS IN THE FORD FLEET. "SKIPPER" HENRY FORD IS SEEN IN INSET.

By Associated Press
New Orleans—Henry Ford has made good again.

He has Fordized the shipping industry.

Into it he has injected the Ford ideas of high efficiency, good wages and absolute cleanliness, all of which have combined to make his other ventures so successful.

And he has found it pays. New Orleans has just been given her first glimpse of his latest project—his ship-operating idea—in the docking here of the freighter Oneida, one of the first two vessels in the Ford fleet.

ASTOUNDS ALL SEAMEN
From Detroit, she had come by way of Montreal, Norfolk, Va., and Jacksonville, Fla. Here she unloaded parts for 1840 automobiles. From New Orleans she was going to Houston, Tex., to take aboard a cargo of sugar, sulphur and scrap iron.

The Oneida was a sight to gladden the eyes of the housewife and the efficiency expert, a sight to stun and astound old-time salt-water sailors.

Old seamen just stood on the levee, looked and gaped, then returned to Seamen's Bethel with a tale that sounded like the fantasies of a sea-soned yarn-spinner letting himself out beneath the flare of the forecastle lantern.

A 4668-ton gross weight steel freighter, 261 feet long over all, with 12-foot beam, she lay there glistening in a shiny coat of automobile enamel. Her decks were clean enough to eat from.

Though she is an oil burner, not a speck of grease showed anywhere. Down in her engine room brass and nickel-plated trimmings shimmered in the light.

Neither Captain A. N. Leland, her skipper, nor any of his officers will tolerate a speck of dirt. And it's the same with the crew.

Those Ford sailor-men? What a collection they were! Clean-shaven, with fresh haircuts and shoes shined, they were dressed in 1924 model clothes. They went up-town in taxicabs and came back the same way—and sober, too.

"Wonder if they get manicured before they come ashore?" asked one old timer.

The men are a happy, contented lot. All are well paid. Five dollars a day is the lowest pay even the newest deck hand draws. And the pay goes up according to the ratings.

NOT ONE HAS QUIT
And grub is thrown in, too. That makes the pay all clear profit. The United States Shipping Board pay-roll provides $47.50 a month for ordinary seamen. That, until Henry Ford entered the shipping business, was thought ruinously high.

Not a man has left ship since the Oneida and her sister ship, Onondaga, first showed off.

The flivver may be a popular joke. But the flivver fleet isn't. At least not to seafaring men.

SCHOOL DIRECTORS VISIT HERE JAN. 23

Directors of vocational schools of the Fox River valley and of Sheboygan, Manitowoc, Two Rivers, Marinette and Beaver Dam have been invited to attend a conference at Appleton Vocational school on Friday, Jan. 23. The purpose of the conference is to study the local school, its equipment, its courses of study and analyze its problems. The visiting directors will discuss the local school as a whole and make criticisms. Changes and remedies will be suggested. This is the second meeting of the series, the first having been held at Fond du Lac in December. Each vocational school represented in the group will be visited in turn and will be given the same treatment. The plan was suggested by O. J. Dorr, director of Fond du Lac Vocational school, for the purpose of improving the schools of the group and bringing about closer cooperation between the directors.

under the direction of Russell Spoor of Lawrence college, was held during the first semester and has been reopened for the remainder of the school year. Several more students can be accommodated in this class. Mr. Spoor will not be in Appleton after this school year and it is probable that the course will be discontinued for some time.

Are You Helping Wisconsin Grow?

THE one way to do this is to stand by the Producer, both on Farm and in Factory, demanding security and a fair deal for those who are trying to build a greater state.

Who is the REAL Wisconsin Booster?

1. THE CITIZEN who knows that our prosperity is based on the economical production and distribution of useful things—farm and factory products.
2. THE FARMER who knows that prosperity demands good markets, as well as good production, and who wants to join hands with men in industry to aid in establishing more favorable conditions for Wisconsin producers upon whom all depend.
3. THE MAN IN INDUSTRY who knows the importance of agricultural prosperity, and works with the farmer to establish more economical methods of marketing farm products with high standards of quality.
4. THE EMPLOYER who is trying to build an institution that will stand the test of time and furnish more and steady employment through the sale of quality products to all parts of the world.
5. THE MANUFACTURER who favors larger Home Markets for our Farmers through more and bigger commercial and industrial centers in our home state.
6. THE MAN OR WOMAN OF VISION who resents the agitation for laws that place greater burdens on industry than are imposed in any other state, and which will always retard growth and lessen opportunities for all.
7. THE WISCONSIN CITIZEN who demands economy and business sense in local, County and State governments, so that High Taxes will not prevent our greatest possible development.

At the beginning of this New Year we invite all citizens of our great state to join with us in this "FORWARD" program, to make Wisconsin a more prosperous commonwealth.

TROUBLE IN THE PANTRY
"Chicken Flu," the European fowl plague, has invaded many states. Congress appropriated $100,000 to fight it. New York and other cities blacklist chickens from states where the epidemic has broken out. In Chicago, inspectors examine dead fowl and diagnose their ailment as infectious bronchitis. A department of the national government issues a statement that human health will not be endangered by the disease. It is claimed that turkeys and ducks are immune, that the plague attacks chickens only. The experts should know. Cautious housewives will make sure their chickens are "well done" before serving. Heat is the greatest known destroyer of bacteria which spread disease.

Another menace to the nation's food supply is discovered in New York, where numerous cases of typhoid are traced to oysters, according to some medical men. Others assert that the source of the typhoid must be elsewhere. However, New York puts a ban on oysters from nearby ocean places where they might be infected. The theory is that typhoid got into the ocean in sewage, thence into oysters. Oysters from polluted waters could be dangerous if eaten raw. A thoroughly cooked oyster certainly is safer.

Meantime the battle continues to check the spread of the European corn borer which menaces one of our leading food crops. It too, came to us from Europe. A column of this newspaper could be filled with a list of insect and fungus pests that are attacking America's food supply. In the terrific ravages of the boll weevil on the cotton crop we have a startling example of what a small but swiftly multiplying destroyer can do in a few years to a crop. Another case is the chestnut tree, now virtually exterminated.

Chickens in some regions are dying like flies, victims of "chicken flu." There may or may not be any menace to human health. But there will be a heavy loss to farmers who grow chickens for market. Trouble—trouble—trouble. In one form or another, nature is constantly furnishing us. She wants us to have problems and difficulties. There is no "life of ease" for man collectively.

GOOD BUSINESS AHEAD
Secretary of the Treasury Mellon has a national reputation for being a most successful man, as well as a leading banker. If he has not done well in every undertaking in which he has taken active part, no one knows it but himself. His record of business successes is quite imposing. When he says, as he does, that "the situation for 1925 looks more favorable for sound and orderly economic development than at any time since the war" we should take notice. Conditions are practically stabilized now, he adds, and the nation has recovered from the general reaction which followed the war. "It has taken time," he says, "for this situation completely to remedy itself. The adjustment has been made and both banking and business conditions are in a thoroughly sound position. The country's banking and credit structure was never in a stronger position and more able to support continued business and industrial expansion."

tional and state administrations should manage the government wisely, and taxation should be reformed so that "the source from which the returns are derived will remain unharmed. The national administration is earnest in proclaiming a policy of rigid conservation, and it professedly desires to aid business and agriculture. Business and agriculture groups may in most instances induce the state governments to be economical and conservative.

There is a vigorous and widespread demand for tax reduction and smaller governmental expense, with increased efficiency. The principal commercial organizations have protested against extravagance and high taxes, and agricultural associations have complained that the farmer pays taxes too high, relatively to his income from agriculture as a business. The tax question must be handled intelligently and equitably. Undoubtedly, economic conditions are better at present, both here and abroad, than at any time since the war's close. The outlook for trade is excellent. In fact, business should be good for several years. It is in conformity with the history of commerce after great wars to expect several years of thriving business.

LARGER WORLD TRADE
According to reports received from agents of the department of commerce, business conditions are more favorable than at any time since the World war in thirty of the forty leading countries. The outlook is bright in all of Latin-America. The situation is unsatisfactory in China, but it is improving fast in Japan. Hawaii has a record sugar crop. Business is reviving in Mexico. France and Italy are doing well, while Germany is rapidly returning to normal activity. Conditions are not promising in Spain, Estonia and Sweden, but they are improving in Belgium and most of the smaller lands.

Great Britain, Canada and the British commonwealths generally are on a firmer economic basis. They, it is said, are prepared to compete with the United States for the bulk of international trade. The pound sterling is nearly normal.

That conditions are becoming better in most parts of the world is good news for us. Foreign prices should advance everywhere as trade grows brisker. Other countries financially invigorated and industrially progressive will be able in time to buy American goods, especially American foodstuffs.

Although there will be fluctuations here and there at intervals of time, trade should be spirited for many years.

A CITY'S NAME
On January first the city of Christiania passed out of existence. The capital of Norway will be known in the future as Oslo. Harold III founded Oslo nine hundred years ago. The town burned down after thriving for six centuries. King Christian thereupon laid out a new town on the other side of Skagerrack river and called it Christiania. The two cities grew up together, one on each side of the river. But Oslo is nine hundred years old, a civic Methuselah, while Christiania is only three hundred, and the latter is to lose its name and be merged with Oslo.

Oslo is a more serviceable title. It is short and easily written and spoken, and is well adapted to these modern commercial times. A town's prosperity does not depend on the name. This instance demonstrates it. Here were two towns, side by side, with a long title and a short one, and both thrived. A town's human resourcefulness and natural advantages are its best assets. But a short name, easily written and easily pronounced, may help to popularize a place.

TODAY'S POEM
By HAL COCHRAN

TUCKIN' TIME.
EIGHT o'clock and mother shouts, "It's time to go to bed." Two tiny little youngsters stop their play. This is the hour, though strange it may seem, that little people dread; the hour when night time takes place of day.
There's quite a little fussing as the tots take off their clothes and have their hands and faces washed and dried. They loathe to play a while as any mother knows, so many little stalling stunts are tried.
"I want a drink of water," comes a shrilly little shout. And then complaints as Mom turns out the light. Right into bed the kiddies hop; and then they hop right out, contending that they were not kiewd goodnight.
The story's ways quite the same when tots are tucked in sound. They never really want to go to bed. They're always feeling playful when their tuckin' time comes 'round. And sleep? Why shucker, they'd rather play instead.

APPETITE GOOD.
Do any of you fat ones remember the story we had here the other day, about the woman who had reduced 137 pounds in 10 months, by diet and exercise, and incidentally cured her diabetes? Well, this is a sequel to that story. This is a duet by a heavy baritone and a light contralto.
Dear Doctor:
May I have your reducing instructions? I am 44 years old, height 5 feet 6 inches, weight 365 pounds. Appetite good. I do all the housework for a family of eight and dressmaking as a side issue. I do not get any exercise outside of my housework.
Have always been heavy. I weighed 190 at 16 and gained more weight after each of the babies came. Mother, grandmother and most of the relatives on mother's side were very stout—250 to 300 pounds.
Can you give me any hope of losing weight? Do not publish.
And now the contralto chimes in:
Dear Doctor:
I hope your lip is not cracked this time. I was respectful enough to ask whether there is such a thing as inherited tendency to be fat, and you seemed to think such an idea very funny. Let me say, however, that I know obesity is sometimes inherited and when it is it makes little difference how little one eats or how much one exercises. I am 5 feet 4 inches tall, aged 29 years, and at present weigh 150 pounds. I have by strenuous dieting lost about ten pounds, but I really look and feel ill.
An so forth and so on, as a woman will when she gets going and the Corona is working smoothly.
This contralto did catch me with two low mean herpeto vesicles on my lip—some people call 'em "cold" sores, though my lips had been exposed to nothing worse than a draught of appleade. The contralto will find much consolation in the family history by the baritone above.
On sober second thought, now that my herpes labialis is all well, it seems not improbable that a tendency to be fat may run in families. The baritone tells us that she has a good appetite—110 pounds in 28 years, but then, she had a big start at 16. A good appetite is likely to be a family characteristic, though I believe I may say without any strain on my newly healed lip that it is rather a matter of example and environment rather than of inheritance. Certain pathological conditions in which obesity is one feature are unquestionably congenial and perhaps inherited, but it seems to me unreasonable to assume that ordinary acquired obesity is inherited just because some other members of the family have been obese. Oertel, a famous European physician whose reduction diet is well known to the medical profession, believed that fully half the cases of obesity were hereditary, but his ground for assumption was merely the frequency of obesity in the family history of his patients. Thus one might likewise assume that because grandpa was bald and grandpa was bald, the baby will be born bald, or at least with a tendency to be bald.

A good appetite. There you are, fat folks. That's the secret of maintaining the family tradition. It is so very easy to overeat, with all the tempting delicacies of the table and the concentrated calories in the confections served at the sofa fountain where the fat girls seem to gravitate so much. When you consider how simple it is to slide 500 calories down the esophagus, in the shape of a chocolate marshmallow nut sundae, and how painfully laborious it is to burn the 500 calories walking several miles or taking other active exercise, is it any wonder that so many fat people like to blame it on grandpa.

We'd like to suggest that if Gib Hones, Charles Maloney, Rip Walman, Gene Konzelman, Charlie Emmer and other amusement idngs have not seen the circuit court room since it's been fixed up, they would do well to take a peek in. That mezzanine floor with the grill work would make an excellent museum gallery for the dancing floor beneath.

Bertha the Cashier said the theater was so crowded that they had to begin putting the people in boxes. No, Bertha, they do that just a few doors north.

WHAT'S THIS?
We're puzzled over the meaning of a sign we saw at a meat market which says, "Meats and sausage." Dogged if we know what to make of it.

Little Is Spent By Salesmen In French Cities
(J. R. Sprague, in The Saturday Evening Post)
That night in the town of Argentan he a French traveling salesman, told me something of the traveling salesman profession in France and of his own arrangements in particular. He gets a straight salary of $2 a day, besides his 2 per cent commission and an allowance for traveling expenses. On the first day he had traveled 120 miles at a cost of about 80 cents. His meals had been 90 cents and his room that night would be 40 cents.
He had checked his valise twice at railroad stations at a total cost of 4 cents. Altogether his first day's expenses were about $2.25.
The voyageur was tremendously interested in America. Someone had told him that voyageurs of commerce in that favored country thought nothing of the expense; that they sometimes stop at hotels where the cost of living is $4 or even $5 a day; that business firms allow their voyageurs to entertain clients with dinners at restaurants and charge the cost of them on their expense accounts.
I assured him that this information was not greatly exaggerated. Then I asked him about the entertainment feature in France. Was it not necessary sometimes to spend a little money on a client in order to sell him a good bill?
"Sometimes no and sometimes yes," he answered. "To offer entertainment to the proprietor of an establishment would be an indiscretion insupportable."
Then the voyageur had a moment of great clarity. He said, "Only last month in a city of southern France I visited an establishment on the same day as one of my rivals. The buyer was an employe and I saw my chance. While my rival was still at the hotel I invited this buyer to the nearby cafe and bought for him two aperitifs out of my own pocket. Ther light in the cage I produced my catalogues and sold him a splendid order. It was droll!"
Aperitifs in France cost 4 cents a glass.

WANT BETTER ICE

Editor Post-Crescent: It was recently stated in the Post-Crescent that Jones Park had been in excellent condition for the past few weeks. We go skating frequently, and find that the park has not been in good condition at any time this year. We feel that the lack of interest in the Ice Races, is due to the poor condition of the ice. Jones Park being centrally located and being the First City rink in Appleton, seems to be an ideal place for skating and the most popular. If other rinks can be kept up, why can't Jones?
The new comfort station is a good improvement, and greatly appreciated by all the skaters, but we suggest that a place be provided for coats and wraps.
The opinion of a large number of skaters, is that something could be done to remedy this situation.

LIBRARY ENGAGES MRS. JOHN SPURR AS NEW ASSISTANT

Hours Are Changed by Board Now That More Help Is Provided—Order New Books

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Mrs. John Spurr was appointed assistant librarian by the library board at a special meeting in the library Monday evening.

The need of an assistant in the library has been felt here for some time in the past, as the present librarian, Miss Hilda Pelzer, has too much work in attending to the library duties alone. The need of an assistant will be met by the new hire, Mrs. Spurr, who will be in charge of the library next summer. Mrs. Spurr commenced her duties as assistant librarian Tuesday.

The hours of the library have now been changed. It will be open in the afternoon from 2 until 8 o'clock instead of closing at 5:30, as previous ly and from 7 until 9 o'clock in the evenings, these hours to apply from Monday to Friday. On Saturday's the library will open at 10 o'clock in the morning and close at 5 o'clock in the evening, without any close. It is expected that these hours will be maintained from now on, if sufficient interest is shown.

The circulation of the library's books is increasing from year to year, showing that local people appreciate their library. The circulation increased from 24,000 volumes in 1923 to 28,000 in 1924.

CLEAN KIDNEYS BY DRINKING LOTS OF WATER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers or Back Hurts

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well-known authority because he acids created excite the kidneys. Then they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, then mastic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders. Jad Salts can not injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

Her Darkest Hour

Nanette was mischievous, pretty and liked a good time—and she saw no harm in letting the handsome Ralph Braden make love to her. She did not know the fickleness of men—not that she was a mere incident in young Bradley's adventurous career. She could not foresee that he would leave her to wed a girl of his own social station—not the tragic pain of events which were to grow out of her own grief, resentment and jealousy.

Told under the title, "The Tell-Tale Tattoo," there is a lesson and a warning here for every girl. It appears as one of the many features in True Story Magazine for February. Don't miss it.

WAUPACA IS FREE FROM SMALLPOX BUT IS CAUTIOUS

Questionnaire Is Sent to School Children to Tabulate Vaccinations

Waupaca—Though there are no cases of smallpox in the city, the public has been asked to prepare for the emergency, should it arise. A quantity of vaccine is at hand in the local drug stores and in the possession of physicians. G. E. Watson, superintendent of schools, sent out a questionnaire Monday to the parents of school children to ascertain which were vaccinated and whether the parent desires the child to be vaccinated.

Friday evening of this week, the local high school basketball team will meet its old rival, Weyauwega, in the second tilt of the season. This promises to be a good game, as Weyauwega plans to avenge the defeat handed them earlier in the season.

Cosch Pautz has been working hard with the squad and despite the setbacks received in the last two games, expects to put a combination on the floor Friday night that should please the most critical fan and leave no doubt as to who will win the game.

The spirit for which Waupaca has been noted in past years has been lacking at previous games played this season. A good preliminary has been arranged between two girls' teams.

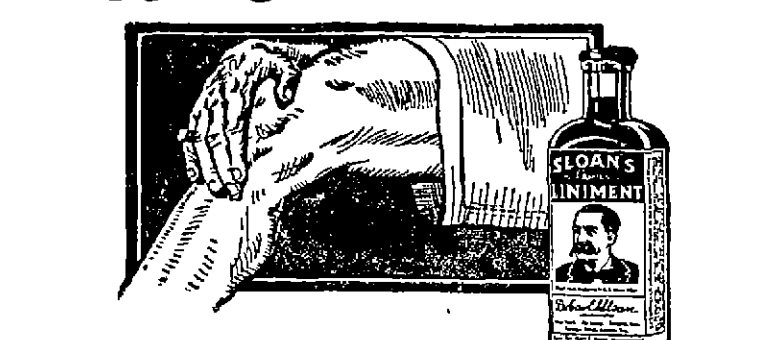

W. H. Mosier, local representative of the government market news service at Waupaca in a general review of the potato market for the past week has the following to say: "The shipping point market through Wisconsin was firm at the beginning of the week and declined slightly around Wednesday and was firm again on Saturday. In face of comparatively heavy shipments the Chicago market remained steady to firm. The shipments from Wisconsin were scattered through many southern states as well as the regular territory."

Market quotations at Waupaca Monday, Jan. 12, cash to growers for bulk round whites for the grade of U. S. No. 1 were mostly 55 cents a hundredweight, with a few at 60 cents. At other Wisconsin points prices were 50 cents to 80 cents mostly around 60 cents. Market comment said handling was moderate; moderate wire inquiry; demand and trading moderate; market firm with little change in prices.

Henry Christenson of the Post Printing company is at St. Agnes hospital at Fond du Lac, where he submitted to a minor operation on Saturday.

Lester Laux arrived in the city from Janesville Monday with a new automobile.

NEW DIRECTORY OF APPLETON TO BE STARTED SOON

Merchants Suggest Improvements Over Last Listing of Residents

C. N. Luce of Milwaukee, is in the city making plans for compiling a new city directory for Appleton by Wright Directory Co. He conferred with the executive committee of the retail trades division of the chamber of commerce Tuesday morning and was given a number of suggestions for improving the book as compared to the last one issued by his company here.

Mr. Luce declares that the compiling director and his staff will be in Appleton to start their work just as soon as the city is ready. They will wait until the new numbers have been placed on the homes however. The date when the book will be finished cannot be determined until the listing is started but it is understood no time will be lost due to the urgent need of the directory.

Merchants have requested that the new book be printed in bolder type so as to make the names easier to read. They also suggest that more care be taken to include the homes at the outlying ends of streets at points where houses are scattered. Publication immediately after the canvass is requested and the company is asked to announce the date when the book will go to press. Index tabs also are wanted to make the book more serviceable.

It is the opinion of Mr. Luce that the county will not be included in the directory this time, because the expense of compiling is too great to make the venture profitable. The price of each volume is to be $8.

POLICE HELP WOMAN FIND BROTHER MISSING 20 YEARS

Appleton police have succeeded in locating a brother of a Chicago woman named Mrs. John Grant, 2068 North Royne-ave who requested their help. The sister has been separated from her brother for nearly 20 years. In 1908 two of her brothers, William and Gabriel Barber, were taken from their home in Osakosh and placed in a children's home in Appleton, she informed the police. She was of the opinion that William was adopted by Dr. Winters, but records here show Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Bauer adopted the child on Oct. 27, 1908. The family later moved away and is now living at 711 West Second-st, Ashland. No information could be obtained about the other brother.

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE

People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c and 30c.

SEEK COMPARISON OF OPEN WINTERS

Rural carriers are digging up their old records to see whether in any previous year they were able to use their automobiles so late in the season as this year. They usually are compelled to abandon the motor vehicles in favor of the sleighs about the middle of December. Occasionally, as

Profs Teach Cross Words At Lawrence

If any good citizen of Appleton should meet a youth with disheveled hair and fevered brow wandering the streets with a dictionary under one arm, a book of synonyms and antonyms under the other, a pencil poised in air over a scrap of paper, he need not in fear for his life call a policeman, nor is a doctor necessary. No, merely proscribe a word of six letters beginning with Z meaning an anthropol and the subject will peacefully depart. Be on the watch citizens, for in truth crossword puzzles have hit Lawrence students—and professors too—rather hard.

So serious is the attack that crossword puzzles have been introduced in rhetoric classes to encourage the students in the use of the dictionary. Several of the professors have composed their own puzzles, and Dr. Louis G. Baker has formed a number in French of varying sizes and complications, which he will spring on students at a meeting of the French club in the near future.

Probably Santa Claus is guilty of this nefarious trouble. Many students brought books back to college when none were taken away before the holidays and the pages in the books were blank except for queer designs and patterns.

Algebra and calculus have resigned their reputation for complexity to the puzzles, and science and philosophy wait while the former studious ones pore over the books with the tricky squares.

Last year, the roads were good for automobiles as late as Jan. 2. Most of the carriers, report, that they never have autoed as long as Jan. 13. Charles Rogers, substitute carrier on Route 2 remembers driving an automobile over that route the last two weeks in January 1922, but other carriers favored with fewer concrete roads declare that they were driving sleighs nearly all that month.

1-2 MILES OF SNOW FENCES THIS YEAR

Approximately one and a half miles of snow fences are up and ready to keep snow drifts from piling over on a portion of state trunk highway 15. A mile of fences has been erected by the county highway department in exposed places on the Little Chute Kaukauna-rd and another half mile of fence on the road leading off this highway to Riverview sanatorium. This is in keeping with the policy of the county board to keep only the highway between the county asylum and the sanatorium open to motor travel. No snow fences have been erected between Kaukauna and the Brown-co line.

House Guest Thinks Only Of Herself

BY CYNTHIA GREY

We asked Lily Laughlin to visit us for a week last January.

She had been ill, and we thought that rest and change would be good for her.

For a convalescent, Lily looked most awfully well when she got off the train. She had a new fur coat with a big orchid pinned on it, and the porter behind her was weighted down with three bulging suitcases.

"I brought plenty of clothes," she said, kissing me affectionately, "because I know you're very gay in a big town this time of the year. Back in Littleville, we're positively dead all the time, of course. Hardly a party week there."

"Sometimes we don't do as well as that," I answered, stowing her bags away in the taxicab. I had expected to take Lily home in the street car, but she was so elegant that I felt she belonged in a heated limousine, at least.

She went to bed early that first night, tired from her long train ride. Lily didn't get up for breakfast and the next morning at 10 I took her coffee and eggs up to her room. She was lounged up in a pink woolly jacket and her lovely hair was hanging down her back.

"Brush my hair the way you used to when we were kids," she begged. Lily and I had lived near each other in Littleville until I married and left town, and I had always been a sort of big sister to her.

"Now, honey," she said to me, "I want you to find me a husband while I'm here. I'm tired of being maid of honor to every bride in Littleville. The man must be handsome and he must have money. I'm extravagant, you know."

I racked my brains to produce a wealthy bachelor for Lily, but I couldn't think of one. So I called up Phil Forbes, a starchy, but charming lawyer, and asked him to the dinner.

All afternoon I wondered how in the world I was going to give Lily the gay time she expected. For one thing I couldn't afford it.

But Phil Forbes solved my problem. He fell in love with Lily. So my share of entertaining Lily was getting her meals, keeping her room clean, and mending her clothes. She's a helpless sort of girl and she always stays in bed until noon.

The day she left for Littleville, Lily told me she was engaged to Phil.

"But we aren't going to be married for two years, or three, maybe," she said unhappily. Phil thinks I'm extravagant and says that he wouldn't think of marrying me until he can afford to keep a servant and have a big house. Aren't men silly?"

SNITCHER SNATCH AND THE BUTTERFLY NET

Johnny Sweep and the Twins flew alone on Johnny Sweep's broom carrying Ted's note to the North Pole.

"Let's read it," said Johnny Sweep suddenly.

Nancy was so shocked at his manners that she nearly fell off the broom. "Why, Johnny Sweep?" she said. "That's not nice! Weren't you ever brought up?"

"Sure!" said Johnny. "But this is different. I was just supposed to 'supposing what?'" said Nick.

"I was just supposing that what if something would happen. Then what? Santa Claus would never know what Ted wants for Christmas. But if we read the note, we'll have it in our heads and then—"

"That's different," said Nancy. "Let's stop right away and see what it says."

So Johnny Sweep stopped his broom in a nuttree and they all got off and sat in a row on a green branch and read Ted's letter. It said:

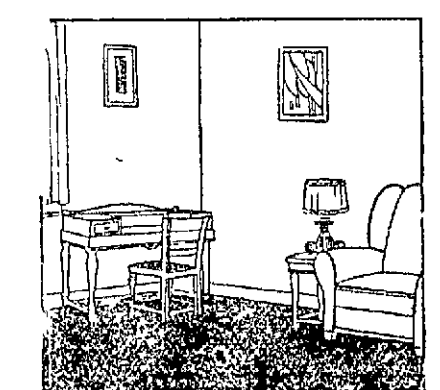

"Dear Santa Claus: Please bring me a live bull pup, and ten cross word puzzle books, and a sweater with trees and people on it, and an ice hockey stick, and about two bushels of candy."

"Your friend, 'Ted.'"

"That's not hard to remember," said Johnny Sweep. "Come on, we'll

Brother To Tiger Is Ligamentous Type

BY EDNA PURDY WALSH

A brother to the tiger is the man of the ligamentous temperament.

He is watchful, often secretive, graceful in dancing, and walking, slim, full of energy, witty, dramatic, jealous, and seldom forgets an injury.

He is skillful in games and often in business, electricity, and in salesmanship, though he worries about things which never happen, and becomes thin, with a severe expression to his face.

Here is a lover who waits and waits like the tiger, without apparently showing an interest in a girl. Then there is a "sudden spring," a forceful demonstration and a steady though often gloomy devotion, full of skepticism, dry humor, dramatics, and temper.

If such a lover is generous, he is very much so, but if stingy, he is very stingy. He is a true friend for

Individuality Comes From Sticking Close To Your Own Type Of Hat

BY HORTENSE SAUNDERS

"No article of wearing apparel deserves more discriminating care in selection than the hat," says Henri Bendel, exclusive designer. "Because no other accessory of dress can so make or mar the ensemble."

"A knowing hat has saved many an indifferent gown, but the wrong hat has ruined many an elegant and expensive one."

"Some women," he says, "have an instinct for hats that amounts to an absolute pitch. They never strike a false note. Such a woman is Lady Diana Manners, the English beauty."

"She came into my shop the other morning and in a space of ten minutes she looked over at least 50 hats and rejected about 40 without as much as a trial but of the 10 or more she tried on, each was perfect. She knew without trying which ones would express her and which ones, get all the notes we can and then we'll be off to the North Pole."

So they jumped on his broom again and rode away.

Every chimney they passed had a crowd of Sooties coming out of the top and hurrying away toward the North.

"My goodness said Johnny Sweep. "Santa Claus is going to get so many notes this year I'm afraid he'll run out of toys and—Oh, my eye! Just look!"

Johnny said "my eye" which showed that although he said he had been brought up, he hadn't been—only partly. But then, I suppose a sweep has to say "my eye." It's about all there is of him to see being all black everywhere else. Besides what he saw sort of gave him a shock. And it was his eyes that got the shock.

For there was Snitcher Snatch, the goblin, hanging onto the church steeple with one hand and one foot and with the other hand he was catching Sooties in a butterfly net. He was so excited that his long limbs were kept wagging like a dog's tail.

"Ha, ha!" he cried. "I got a whole hatful that time. This is more fun than a barrel of monkeys."

"Oh, dear! He'll steal all the notes," cried Nancy. We'll have to catch him."

But Snitcher Snatch had seen them, and he skeddaddled down that church steeple like hot butter running down a muffin. And he hid in an old barrel, butterfly net, Sooties, Christmas notes and all."

Johnny Sweep guided his broom down to the ground and he and the Twins started to hunt.

They spied the goblin because the point on his cap was sticking up and it gave him away.

"Give us those Christmas notes, and let the Sooties loose," said Johnny Sweep sternly.

"Yes, sir," said Snitcher Snatch meekly, handing them right over. (To Be Continued.)

SISTER Mary's KITCHEN

Breakfast—Steamed dried apricots, cooked wheat cereal, thin cream, creamed dried beef, boiled potatoes, cornmeal muffins, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Potato and cheese soup, Boston brown bread and butter sandwiches, fruit salad, rice pudding, cookies, milk, tea.

Dinner—Hamburg roast, scalloped potatoes, stewed tomatoes and green salad, baked bananas, whole wheat bread, milk, coffee.

Even boiled potatoes can be good or bad, according to the care used in preparing them. Carefully trim out all the eyes when paring. And take a thin paring, not only from the economical standpoint, but because the best part of the tuber lies close under the skin. Plain boiled potatoes should be cut in uniform size and cooked in boiling salted water until tender. Add the salt when the potatoes are about half cooked. Drain potatoes from water in which they were cooked and shake over the fire to dry them thoroughly. Serve immediately.

Potato And Cheese Soup

Three cups milk, 1 small onion, 1 1/4 cups mashed potatoes, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon paprika, 1/2 cup grated cheese.

Scald onion with milk. Remove onion and add potato and seasoning. Melt butter without bubbling, stir in flour and slowly add hot milk, stirring constantly. Cook five minutes. Add cheese and cook over hot water until cheese is melted. Serve with toasted crackers.

HAMBURG ROAST

One and one-half pounds round steak, 3/4 pound, 5 thin slices fat salt pork, 1/4 cup stale bread crumbs from soft part of loaf, egg, 4 tablespoons milk, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, few drops onion juice, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons dried bread crumbs.

Chop two slices of the pork very finely and mix well with ground steak. Add stale bread crumbs, salt and pepper, onion juice, milk and egg and mix thoroughly. Shape in a loaf, roll in dried bread crumbs and cover top with remaining slices of pork. Roast 50 minutes in a hot oven, basting every 10 minutes, first with boiling water and then with the "drippings" in the pan.

BAKED BANANAS

Allow one banana for each person to be served. Remove one section of skin from each banana and place bananas in a shallow pan. Bake in a moderate oven until soft. Remove from oven and take fruit from skins. If you have some stale cake, dry it and put it through the fine knife of the food chopper. Add half as much ground nuts as cake crumbs, and roll bananas in mixture. If cake is not at hand, serve bananas plain with the sauce. Serve with current jelly sauce.

CURRENT JELLY SAUCE

One-half cup currant jelly, two-thirds cup boiling water, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon cornstarch.

Beat jelly until smooth and add boiling water. When dissolved stir in cornstarch diluted in enough cold water to make it pour easily. Cook, stirring constantly, until thick and smooth. Remove from the fire and stir in lemon juice.

A dinner frock that is lovely in color as well as in line is of beige lace over rose colored chiffon.

Rabbit fur is very much liked as a trimming for light colored flannel wraps and coats.

Safety Hints

KEEP ICE OFF PORCH STEPS

When cleaning the front porch of snow be sure that all the moisture is removed from the top step at least so ice will not form. After sweeping sprinkle a little salt over the top step. This will prevent ice from forming which might cause a person to be badly injured by falling.

Jazzy Touch

Figured crepe de chine in black, white and red makes this Palm Beach frock that is given a jazzy touch by a wide tie and bandings of plain red crepe de chine. The revers have an original cut and full in a flattering, soft line, and the elbow sleeve offers a compromise between the long and sleeveless models.

Household Hints

USE EGG BEATER

Use a small egg beater when stirring gravy and there will never be any lumps.

PREVENTS SHRINKING

To prevent woollens from shrinking hang them out on the line dripping wet without wringing them.

REMOVES STAINS

If a scorch stain is not too serious it may be removed by rubbing bread crumbs over the stained portion.

IF SHOE PINCHES

If a new shoe pinches, dampen a sponge with very hot water and hold it over the part that hurts. It will cause an expansion of leather that will bring relief.

PULLING THREADS

Before trying to pull threads in linen run a damp piece of cloth along the line where the thread is to be pulled.

REMOVE FINISH

If a floor is badly stained the old finish should be entirely removed before a new one is put on.

LETTER FROM RUTH BURKE TO LESLIE PRESCOTT

Well, here we are back home again. It doesn't seem like home to me, Leslie, without you here. I haven't been able to get hold of Jack, and I may as well tell you that there's a pretty kettle of fish at your apartment. That Bradford women has kicked up the usual muss. Your cook has left, and if Sarah hadn't been with you so long, I am sure she would do so also.

Mrs. Prescott tells me her son is so busy he has not been home for a week except to sleep, coming in very late at night and leaving very early in the morning. Sarah tells me privately that he hasn't been home at all but has contented himself with calling up to find out about little Jack. Miss Anderson visited me at the shop today, and told me that even she could not stand it much longer.

Last night Walter and I dined at the Little Club, and over in one corner we saw Sally Atherton and Jack. Now, dear, I don't think there is one solitary bit of harm in Jack's attention to that woman. He's very lonely, and what a lonely man will do, is not to be conceived in the mind of woman.

Mrs. Atherton spied Walter and me first, and said something to Jack. I know he was embarrassed, but she seemed to be as cool as ever. I think she told him to invite us over to their table, for rather reluctantly, he came over and after greeting Walter, whom he had not seen since we got here, he asked us to come over and eat with them.

I asked Jack when you were coming home, and he said he did not think you were coming for quite a while, that he was going to take the baby down to you as soon as his business would let him. It was then that Sally Atherton said a most peculiar thing.

"Why didn't you tell me, Mr. Prescott, that you wanted to get away?" she said. "I'm sure I could manage perfectly well. If Leslie wants to see her boy, she ought to have him immediately. Why don't you go tomorrow?"

It seemed to me Jack was sorry he had spoken, for he evaded answering her, but all through the dinner she kept referring to it, and finally she said to me:

"Isn't it possible for you to persuade Mr. Prescott that I can take care of his business?"

Jack seemed very much annoyed, and grew very sulky. That did not worry her, however. She wouldn't let him alone until he had promised to start to you tomorrow.

Later, in the dressingroom, she said:

"I think Mr. Prescott should take the baby to his wife, and bring them all back here as soon as possible. His mother and son are old friends of hers, have absolutely turned his house into chaos, and he is not staying home at all."

"You probably know Mr. Prescott better than I, Mrs. Burke, and you probably know that for all his cry of business he is not, or rather he cannot attend to it when his mind is all shot to pieces by that exigent mother of his."

Do you know, Leslie dear, I

FRIEND SAVED MRS. WILHELMY

"Overwork, worry, no appetite, no sleep, I looked like a corpse," says Mrs. Mary Wilhelmy of St. Paul, Minn., "and to add to my troubles my physician advised an operation. A friend, however, asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so, and you should see the improvement. I eat well, sleep well, have gained in weight and strength and feel fine." That is what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Wilhelmy, and it will do as much for any suffering woman.

GIRL, SUING FOR $15,000, CHARGES X-RAY BURNED HER

Neenah Woman Seeks to Recover Large Sum from Dr. M. J. Sandborn

Damages approximately $15,000 are asked by Bella Burstein in the suit she has brought for her father and guardian Meyer Burstein, Neenah, against Dr. M. J. Sandborn of Appleton, for injuries and disability said to have resulted from an X-ray burn during a treatment by the Appleton specialist.

Testimony in the case was started in circuit court Tuesday and had not been completed by Wednesday noon. Depositions had been taken previously before L. Rivo Keller, court commissioner. A previous action based upon doctor bills paid for X-ray treatments under Dr. Sandborn was dismissed by Judge Edgar V. Werner on the ground that under the statute of limitations the time for serving notice had expired.

Miss Burstein took six treatments under the Appleton physician in 1921. It was testified, and it is to the effects of the last treatment that the case refers. She had suffered with eczema on her face and neck, and when the treatment was given, the eczema was improving under the X-ray treatments. At the last treatment her hand was burned from what she regarded as overexposure. The usual time of exposure was five minutes while this exposure lasted considerably longer, she contended. As a result, she said, she frequently was subjected to severe pain and could not sleep nights. When she consulted a specialist in Chicago, she had to submit to two operations in which new skin was grafted on her hand. She still does not consider her self restored to normal health.

Dr. Sandborn declared that in none of the treatments given Miss Burstein was the time of exposure to X-ray more than five minutes. He used a special alarm to time the exposure. If he left the X-ray room he would be called back by the bell on the alarm, he said. In her previous treatments, he said, she showed no evidence of being over-sensitive to X-ray. Miss Burstein was practically cured of her ailment when she came for her last treatment, the doctor testified.

State Executive Committee on Religious Education Meets Here

The state executive committee on Religious Education met Tuesday morning in the directors room of the Y. M. C. A. to discuss policies and plans relative to work on religious education. Local men present were Dr. J. H. Tippet, Dr. J. A. Holmes, Dr. B. E. Emme, and Dr. D. O. Kinsman. Other members of the committee who attended were the Rev. Richard Evans, Wausau, president; J. E. The summer school of religious education, which is held at Waupaca, each summer will take place from July 27 to Aug. 8, this year. Students from many churches enroll in the school. Dr. Emme has been re-elected dean. Dr. Samuel Plantz and Dr. Kinsman were members of the faculty last summer.

Dr. Emme is president of religious education for the Wisconsin conference of the Methodist church. The executive committee discussed plans to further the religious education in the state. Plans also were completed for the biblical and educational contests which are being inaugurated this year.

White House Visitor Must See "Ike" Before He May See President Coolidge

Washington—J. H. Hoover probably has a wider acquaintance with the chief usher at the White House than most men in the United States. As chief usher at the White House, Hoover comes in contact with foreign envoys, native celebrities, congressmen, hikers and every type of people under the sun.

So it has been the last 34 years, as Hoover has held his "top" under the president.

Everyone who has an engagement, other than official business with a member of the presidential family, must see Hoover first. He looks over the credentials, does all arranging and the introducing. His office is just inside the White House front door. Hoover probably has a more title than anyone else in the world. Officially, of course, he is chief usher.

"But," he explains, "I've been called White House superintendent, chief usher, master of ceremonies, major, commander and heaven only knows what."

To his friends he's simply plain "Ike."

Hoover likes his job a lot—but he will not talk about it.

"I can't," he tells you. "If I did, the people with whom I come into such intimate contact might lose confidence in me."

"Yes, I do say it is intensely interesting—meetings, notable from all over the world and seeing what they're actually like face-to-face."

"That was true particularly during my two trips to Europe with President Wilson. I had the opportunity then to meet men of whom I always had heard, but never seen—diplomats such as Lloyd George, Clemenceau, Poincaré and a score of others—and comparing them with our statesmen."

On these trips Hoover arranged all the president's conferences. As a diplomat he takes no back seat himself. But he is a diplomat who stays behind the scenes.

STAGE AND SCREEN

NORMA TALMADGE IS RECORD FILM WORKER
Norma Talmadge is known as one of the most indefatigable workers among motion picture stars. She established a record for work during the filming of "The Only Woman," her latest First National production now at the Elite theatre. During one week she worked seven days and seven nights, with but six hours of sleep each night. And at that she was still suffering from an injury sustained when a cable slipped from her fastening in the rafters of the United Studios and struck her. "The Only Woman" as the picture shows is the most strenuous role Norma has ever undertaken, and her intensive work lends much to its vivid and thrilling realism.

APPLETON THEATRE

A speedy dance revue with catch-song embellishments is the offering of the 1924 edition of the Blue Ribbon Follies which features the Scott Brothers, Roy and Warren, who are fast dancers of the highest type. They do artistic and comedy dance numbers with equal ability and have a stage personality which wins for them the title of "the boys with the million dollar smiles." Laura Pollette is a winsome young lady who sings blues in a mean manner and dances with just as much abandon as she sings. She has a winning manner which sets off her good looks like a diamond in a platinum setting. Little Alice Frederick is another charming member of the cast who does a toe number as charming as Marilyn Miller ever did. George Vaughn the "wizard of the piano" is a pleasing accompanist and does his bit of dancing and song which proves him accomplished in more ways than one. Lucille Wayne the blonde beauty who completes the cast is also as talented as she is charming. The opening which introduces different summer pastimes concludes by proving dancing better than any of them is a neat and novel idea and shows the girls to great advantage. The ward-robe and scenery is flashy and appropriate while a novel electric effect is introduced at the finish.

WINE OF YOUTH

A light comedy drama of the screen boasting elegant youthful and popular leading men in its cast is scheduled for the program of the Elite theatre on Friday and Saturday. The picture is "Wine of Youth," King Vidor's film version of Balzac's "delightful stage success," "The Third," which is released by Metro-Goldwyn.

THE CODE OF THE WILDERNESS OFFERS STRONG APPEAL

A stirring picture of life on a ranch in the great West, "The Code of the Wilderness," from the novel by Charles Alden Seltzer will be seen at the New Bijou theatre Thursday Friday and Saturday. John Brown and Alice Calhoun have the leading roles and Alan Hale, Otis Harlan, Charlotte Merriam, Kitty Bradbury and Joe Rickson complete the cast.

Ruth Harkness, an orphan living in New York, inherits a ranch in New Mexico. Accompanied by her aunt, Martha, and Jephon, her uncle, and Willard Masten her fiancé, she takes possession. In charge of the property is the ranch boss, Rex Ransom, to whom Masten takes an immediate dislike. Antipathy between the men is accentuated by Ransom's affection for Ruth. Masten tells Ruth that Rex started the fight and shot the man, to pick a quarrel with Rex and Rex kills him. Masten tells Ruth that Rex started the fight and shot the man down in cold blood, Ruth, shocked by the occurrence, with-

A large crowd attended the concert of the 120th Field Artillery band Tuesday evening in Lawrence Memorial chapel. Solos by George Nixon, well-known Appleton tenor and the Apache dance by Miss Dorothy Adelt and Bernard Bonini were included in the program. The overture, "Orpheus," the opening number of the concert was especially well rendered by the band. Orville Thompson, clarinet soloist showed remarkable ability in the concert waltz, from Wedding of the Winds, one of the features of the entertainment. The Apache dance performed by Miss Adelt and Mr. Bonini came in for a great share of applause. The concluding overture, Raymond, was well rendered.

The next concert of the band will be given Tuesday, Jan. 27. Edward F. Munn, director of the band, announced a complete Egyptian ballet with band accompaniment and a mixed quartet will feature this concert.
